

Partner Logistics is a fast-growing logistics service provider with an international network of innovative warehouses.

Due to a member of their staff moving on, a void in the company's knowledge was identified. The site managers were initially tasked with compliance and keeping up to date with current legislation but due to operational pressures, it was difficult for them to stay abreast of all that was needed, specifically in the areas of health and safety management and HACCP training.

To maintain compliance with British Retail Consortium (BRC) requirements and to satisfy their customers' expectations, it was necessary to make sure the company had the requisite skills 'in house'.

The company first started working with Envesca back in March 2012 when Richard Bufton, UK Operations support, attended a Level 2 Award in Health and Safety in the Workplace course. Richard then went on to attain both levels 3 and 4 health and safety qualifications before qualifying in risk assessment and HACCP. He further enhanced his training and auditing skills by successfully completing the Level 3 Awards in Training Skills and Practice and Effective Auditing and Inspection Skills.

Due to Richard's increased knowledge, his employers and colleagues now know that they can rely on his judgement and expertise. He finds it easier to communicate the needs of legislation and Regulation to all in the company with more confidence and eloquence than he would have been able to before the training.

Richard Bufton said, "A convenient location was amongst the key criteria for finding a suitable training provider and Envesca fitted the bill, as they were very local. Also, the Envesca website was easy to use and made booking a trouble-free exercise."

Envesca have helped tremendously with their easy going, relaxed style of tuition. I have not had one bad experience whilst dealing with any of the team. They are all very professional, courteous and helpful.
